

Gen Z and the American Dream

@DOLESCENT prodege

The most surprising revelation about Gen Z?

We're far more traditional than headlines would have you believe

We're not dreaming of excess;
we're yearning for basic security

83%

of us favor
monogamy

Only 2% of Gen Z dreams of being a full-time
content creator

This isn't about overnight fame
—it's about calculated
career
amplification

Gen Z's career goals:

16%
healthcare

13%
creative
professions

11%
entrepreneurship

78%

of our generation
would consider
unethical
behavior
for $1
million

A man and a woman are holding hands in the center of a hallway. The man is wearing a white shirt and a dark tie. The woman is wearing a ring. A large, stylized white letter 'F' is superimposed over the image, with the couple's hands positioned at the top horizontal bar of the 'F'. The hallway has wood-paneled walls and a patterned carpet. A potted plant is visible on the left side of the hallway. The text 'We're not running from commitment; we're committing to staying flexible' is written in yellow and orange at the bottom of the image.

We're not running
from commitment;
we're committing
to staying flexible

The traditional path isn't the only way anymore, we can create our own opportunities

We're not rootless

The American Dream isn't dead, but it dies the fewer people believe in
it or fight for it

Thank you
